

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention allows error information to be communicated to the user easily and rapidly when an error occurs at a peripheral device connected to the network without requiring dedicated application.

5 According to the invention, the state of the peripheral device is reported by means of e-mail, and a language used in the e-mail is switched.

10042323-041103